Asks Conant To Call Off Investigation

MOVE DID NOT HAVE BACKING OF COUNCIL

Newmarket council thrashed out, in a special meeting Thursday night, the repercussions of a letter sent by Chief Constable James Sloss to the Attorney-General's department, in which Constable Sloss asked for advice on the question of the policing of the town. As a result of the letter, which was sent December 18, Attorney-General G. D. Conant announced by letter to Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, Christmas morning, and through the daily newspapers the next day, that an investigation of the police force and police needs in Newmarket would be conducted by Commissioner Stringer of the Provincial Police Department, who had detailed Inspector H. Loughheed of the Criminal Investigation Branch to proceed with the matter.

In his letter, Chief Sloss asked the department to make a survey of the police needs of the town and to offer advice on them. He said that two men, the present strength of the force, could not give the highest efficiency since the town's population had increased to six thousand people with the soldiers. However, with this great increase, he said there is only "slight increase in crime." The Attorney-General's reply informed Mayor Boyd that Inspector Loughheed was to report on the system of policing and on police needs of Newmarket.

"An answer to the Attorney-General's letter is imperative," said Mayor Boyd. The answer that council decided on, after much heated debate, was in the form of a motion by Deputy-Reeve Joe Vale, to ask the Attorney-General to cancel the investigation as it is unnecessary. The motion was carried with a large majority.

"I understand that this request had the approval of the police committee," said Mayor Boyd. "As far as I am concerned, I never heard anything about this letter until I received a copy of it from the Attorney-General yesterday morning. I later read a report of it in the Globe and Mail. Mayor Walton of Aurora, phoned and asked what it was all about. I said that I would call a meeting to thrash it out. I'm on the police committee and I never heard of it."

"There is a little less than four thousand people to be looked after by our police," continued the Mayor. "The soldiers are policed by the military police. That was understood before the camp was even established here. There was to be no extra expense on us."

"This is my reaction," added Mayor Boyd. "It looked to me as though Mr. Dixon and Mr. Sloss Continued on page 2 col. 1."

H. B. Marshall Succumbs To Heart Attack

PASSES IN STORE CHRISTMAS EVE

The sudden passing of Harry B. Marshall, esteemed Newmarket merchant, at his grocery store early Christmas Eve, cast a gloom over the business section. Mr. Marshall had been about his work as usual and was in apparently good health when suddenly stricken and passed away before his physician, Dr. Boyd, whose office is upstairs over the store, could be summoned.

Born in Washago fifty-nine years ago, he married Margaret McAuley in 1907. In 1910 Mr. and Mrs. Marshall moved to Newmarket, and for the past twenty-seven years he had operated a grocery business on the corner of Main and Timothy Streets. Keenly interested in the welfare of the community, he had served on both the council and high school board. He was an ardent bowler and was president of the local club in 1919 and 1920. He was an elder in Trinity United Church, a Liberal, and a member of the Independent Order of Foresters.

The funeral service was held at Trinity United Church on Friday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. Dr. A. E. Runnells, paying eloquent tribute to a man who had made a worthwhile contribution to the community. Continued on page 8 col. 1.

In poor health for some weeks, Mrs. Ben Stephenson, 76, died at her home on Temperance Street, Aurora, Saturday.

Born Martha Ann Legge, she was married to Ben Stephenson at Oak Ridges Church in 1883. They celebrated their golden wedding at their home two years ago. Both were members of Aurora United Church.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES DISTRIBUTE PAMPHLETS

WAS MEMBER FOR NORTH YORK AT AGE OF 31

Clifford Case, K.C., Conservative ex-M.P.P. for North York, died in York County Hospital on Monday. He was in his 43rd year.

Born on his father's farm in King township, he attended school at Snowball and high school at Aurora, where he excelled at athletics. After working for several years, he entered Osgoode Hall and studied law under the late Col. T. Herbert Lennox, in whose campaigns he took an active part. He graduated from Osgoode Hall in 1924, and opened a practice in Toronto and Aurora. His law partner was Stewart Webb, Swansea school trustee. In 1928 he was elected deputy reeve of Aurora and in 1929 was given the Conservative nomination in North York. He defeated the sitting member, P. W. W. Pearson, by 198 votes after a whirlwind campaign. He was 31 at the time and one of the youngest members in the legislature.

He instigated the royal commission investigation of the Holland Marsh, concerning its property holders and assessments, and was one of the members who urged formation of the Ontario milk board. He was an active debater on agriculture and continually clashed with W. E. Raney. He accepted the Conservative nomination again in 1933, but was Continued on page 5 col. 5.

Letters From Boys Overseas

England, Nov. 4th.
Newmarket Veterans Assoc.
Dear Sirs:

Received your ever welcome gift of cigarettes. Thanks a million. As usual, they came at the right time, as my supply was exhausted. Needless to say, we all like to get smokes from home, somehow they seem to taste better.

Please give my kindest regards to those who are so generous with the boys over here. I know that along with the rest of the boys we will always remember your kindness.

We are stationed pretty close to London just now, and believe me it is no bed of roses, although last night was free from any air raids, but we had plenty for the past few weeks. At present our road that leads to a small town is barred to traffic as a large bomb is still waiting to go off.

I will close now, thanking you again for your kindness.

Sincerely yours,
Lance-Cpl. Smith,
B 73039.

Sussex Camp, Eng.,
Dec. 12th, 1940.

Newmarket Veterans Assoc.

I just received your fine box of good things to eat. Thanks so much. Our mail was held up for some time when we were expected to leave here for England and through some mistake it was sent here. However, better late than never.

We arrived here on December 1st, but so far we have only received part of our mail.

My brother is home on furlough now, and Earl Cole is going in a day or so.

Thanks again for remembering us so kindly even though we are many miles away. Thanks. The box was really wonderful.

Sincerely yours,
G. T. Blencowe.

December 3rd, 1940.

To the Ladies' Institute and the Newmarket Veterans' Assoc.:

You have no idea how well I appreciated the Xmas box I received in the mail this week-end. It sure is nice to know that you people at home are going to it a hundred per cent. in this war against Nazism.

It certainly is nice to get butter, chocolates, eggs and knitted wear from home. It is practically impossible to get any of those articles here now due to this rationing.

However, when one reads of further successes by the Greeks against the Italians, it certainly is heartening, and makes us feel over here that our day will come in the near future. As all the boys say, "that'll be the day."

Well, again I thank you for your kindness and with best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

I remain,
Sincerely,

BERT BLACKWOOD, CAR VICTIM, BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

The tragic death of William (Bert) Blackwood in a motor accident six miles north of Bradford Monday afternoon, December 23rd, was keenly felt by his wide circle of friends throughout the district. In the car with Blackwood was Stephen Rose of town, who suffered a broken knee-cap, contusions and internal injuries. Mr. Rose, who was unconscious for some time after the accident, is now progressing favorably at York County Hospital.

Bert Blackwood, who was in his 33rd year, and was manager of the Newmarket division of the Shell Oil Co., had made many close friends in his short stay in Newmarket. He was a fine specimen of manhood, big and jovial, with a cheery greeting for all.

A Lieutenant in the 45th Regiment, N.P.A.M., he was buried with military honors on Tuesday afternoon. The service, held in the Anglican Church, Lindsay, was one of the largest ever witnessed in the district, and was attended by a thousand militia and civilians.

Some forty or fifty from Newmarket attended the service.

CIGARETTES SENT BY COMFORT FUND

Another shipment of 300 cigarettes has recently been sent by the Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts Fund to each Newmarket boy overseas. Another such package will be sent in the next few days. Outside of the one shipment of cigarettes sent early on, all parcels sent by the Vets have arrived safely.

Charlie Holmes Moved To Stratford

Moved to Stratford

CHARLIE HOLMES who for the past ten years has taken an active part in the community life of Newmarket, is being moved to Stratford by the Bell Telephone Co.

REPORTS FIRST ROBIN

Mrs. Ernest Dobbie of Timothy Street, reports the first robin of this spring! The bird spent all day Sunday around the Dobbie home, eating red berries off a small bush.

WAS PERENNIAL HEAD OF HOCKEY AND BALL CLUBS

Charlie Holmes, energetic worker for all sporting activities of town and district, is being moved by his company—the Bell Telephone, to Stratford next Tuesday, where he takes on the duties of construction and maintenance supervisor. His district will be from London to Kitchener and north to Goderich.

It was just ten years ago to-day that Charlie came to Newmarket to make his home, and a good ten years or better from now he will still be looking upon the Hub of North York as such. Connected with sports in St. Catharines before coming here, the peppy Charles could not long keep away from his life's hobby, and for the past four years the softball club and for three years the hockey club have been ably guided by his sound advice as president.

On Friday evening a representative gathering of citizens put on a farewell party for their friend and presented him with a beautiful three-way floor lamp.

While the citizens appreciate that merit has been recognized in this promotion, the only regret is that the promotion brings a severing of pleasant daily contact. Newmarket will miss the Holmes and we are sure that the Holmes will miss Newmarket.

Mr. A. Revill, wire chief at Stratford, will be the new Bell man here.

ESTEEMED LADY, MRS. CHARLES RHINEHART, LAID TO REST

In ill health for the past two years, and a patient at York County Hospital for five weeks, the death occurred on Thursday, December 26th, of Catherine Emma Murray, wife of the late Charles Rhinehart.

Born in Newmarket on May 6th, 1863, the daughter of James Murray and Annie Douglas, she had spent her entire life here. In 1884 she was married to Charles Rhinehart, who died in 1915.

The funeral service on Sunday from the funeral chapel of Roadhouse & Rose, conducted by the Rev. Arthur Greer, of the Christian Church, was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends who came to pay their last respects to a good neighbor and kindly woman. The R.S.A. Bugle Band attended the service in a body.

Funeralbearers were W. J. Patterson, Sgt. William Andrews, Frank Smith, William Hopkinson, Thos. Doyle and Theodore Bolton. Interment Newmarket Cemetery.

Surviving are two sons, Roy and Harold, and a daughter, Mrs. Continued on page 4 col. 2.

Lions' Christmas Basket Fund Reaches New High

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-NINE KIDDIES LOOKED AFTER

Despite the numerous calls of war days, citizens did not overlook the Lions appeal for the needy children of the town, and the largest contribution of any year, $610 was realized.

Through these generous donations the local service club was able to bring Christmas cheer to sixty-six families and one hundred and sixty-nine children. The boxes cost approximately $600, an average of $3.50 each. Each child received a sweater, toque, mitts or gloves. The one to two-year old group a coat of set, of coat, hat and leggings, and underwear. Each girl a doll or pantry set, each boy a toy or game. The boxes also contained one pound of nuts, one pound of candy, five pounds of corn syrup, one pound of cocoa, one package unprepared cereal, one jar peanut butter, six oranges for each child (minimum two dozen to a family) and a box of animal crackers for the tiny tots.

The Lions Club appreciate the generosity of Newmarket and district folk, who have never failed to help this worthy cause.

Asks Conant To Call Off Investigation

didn't include me in the consultation because my stand, when the police question was discussed last summer, was that Newmarket did not need any more policemen. The weeve advised us long ago that the police were making a mistake in forming a police committee. I can see now that it doesn't work out."

"I wasn't approached on that subject either," said Alderman D. O. Mungovan, the third member of the police committee, "so therefore, the Mayor is wrong in his reason why Mr. Dixon didn't consult him, because I definitely approved of an additional policeman. I certainly would never have advised Constable Sloss to go to the Attorney-General's department. It seems that any communications with that department become public property in the papers. It would be too bad if anyone took a personal matter to them. It was a bad action on Constable Sloss's part."

Alderman Dixon related the circumstances of the letter. "I went to the police station one night to visit Sloss to see if everything was all right. He showed me this letter. It was intended not to stir up an investigation, but just to ask for advice and consultation on trouble that had developed lately. I was agreed that the letter be sent. I didn't ask for a meeting because we seldom had all the police committee members at a meeting. I did not ask Dr. Boyd to come up because he had either been too busy to come to the meetings or would come in for about 10 minutes and go out. There were one or two particular conditions that developed in Newmarket recently on which we needed the advice of the department," concluded Mr. Dixon.

"I am very much opposed to this investigation," Deputy-Reeve Vale said. "My impression, on reading the newspaper accounts, was that Mr. Sloss felt that this council was not capable of dealing with these police matters. It is inconsistency for a chief of police asking for an investigation of his own force. Usually outside people ask for such an investigation. I don't like interfering in other committees because we have confidence in the committees, but I think Mr. Dixon was right in that on a major question of policy the council should be consulted."

"It has created an impression that Newmarket council couldn't look after its own police affairs and it made me a little hot under the collar," continued the deputy-revee. "I strongly disapprove of the chief of police going over the head of the council in writing this letter to the Attorney-General without its approval and in this trying to force this council to add to its police force. I cannot too strongly condemn his action. The Globe and Mail said this situation is unique. In my recollection there have been only three investigations of police in Ontario, at the request of the police themselves. Barrie and Kitchener are the other two places. In both these cases, there was considerable publicity as to the shocking conditions. It is not the same in Newmarket for there has been no great increase in crime. I don't know how the Camp Commandant feels about it."

"If crime is slightly on the increase, it has never been mentioned in a council meeting. It's extremely unfortunate for us that we are branded in newspapers as being negligent in our police affairs. There has been a grave mistake by Mr. Dixon in not asking the advice of the council on such a matter of major policy. We are made a laughing stock in Newmarket and it is slandering on the camp to suggest that such an investigation is warranted."

"I would like to reply to Mr. Vale," said Councillor Dixon. "In the first place we never asked for an investigation, we only intended to ask for advice. Newmarket is no more a town of angels than any other place. However, there was no idea of a probe, we just wanted advice."

"That's not what the newspapers report," said the Deputy-Reeve.

"Well, I never take much notice of press reports being correct. It is a case of conditions having arisen and our needing advice. Mr. Vale is trying to make a mountain out of a molehill."

Chief Sloss stated that he had been as much surprised as the council at the result of his letter. "I regret very much that this has come up," he said. "I want to thank the council for their support, they have never given me bad criticism. Mr. Dixon approved the sending of this letter. To date I have taken orders from the police chairman. I want to know where I stand."

"I was merely seeking advice for my own protection," continued Chief Sloss. "A while ago we got bad publicity from the bootleggers. In not later than two weeks all the bootleggers will be cleared out. I can walk into any bootleggers in town with a clear conscience. Every one of them has been placed on the indictment list. That was the purpose of this letter, to protect myself. The police are left high and dry many times in cases like these, branded by unfair publicity."

"I said it was on the approval of the police committee, which perhaps was not true. For the time I have been employed, I have been taking orders from the chairman, Mr. Dixon," Chief Sloss said that crime has increased slightly since the camp was established in Newmarket, but that the increase had not been caused by the camp soldiers."

"So far, the conduct of the trainees has been 100 per cent. In the three and a half years before the camp, there was one car theft in town. Three car thefts were reported in the last month, one by a soldier not in the camp. The crime increase was slight; I didn't think that when I wrote this letter that it would become public property. I wanted advice and I knew there was no better a man than Inspector Loughheed to give advice. I thought that if Inspector Loughheed came, investigated conditions and made a report, it would help. It was not a question of going over the heads of council."

"From time to time the question of overwork of the police has come up. It is not a question of overwork, but of efficient work. I worked through twenty-four hours last week on a case without sleeping." The Chief said it was minor complaints such as dog-fights that took time and made the need of another man to answer calls in the station more imperative."

"We pay a man to give legal advice, why was he not consulted?" asked Councillor Frank Bowser. "It looks to me that we sent a letter to the wrong department."

"Apparently Mr. Sloss didn't intend it in this way," said the town solicitor and clerk, N. L. Mathews. "But the Attorney-General does intend it this way. It is to be an investigation, a probe." Mr. Mathews said he didn't know to whom the expense of such a probe would be charged.

"Your request was for a probe even though you didn't intend it," said Deputy-Reeve Vale.

"It is unfortunate that he went for outside advice and that he went to the Attorney-General to get it," said Councillor Mungovan. "We can't question the sincerity of Mr. Sloss, it's the handling that was wrong. The only thing we can do now is to cancel it."

Deputy-Reeve Vale introduced his motion at this time.

Mr. Boyd said that this action was not directed against the police department. "We don't want the citizens to make unfair criticism of the police department. Chief Sloss made an unfortunate move this time. He wanted advice, but he went to the wrong source to get it. He should have consulted Mr. Mathews. In all these matters the Mayor and council should be consulted first. However, I sympathize with Mr. Sloss and Mr. Dixon."

"As far as the military camp is concerned," said Reeve Fred Lundy, "the soldiers have not contributed to any need for more policing."

The Reeve said that he thought the reporters got information of the letter from other source than the Attorney-General. "The reporters are hungry around there all the time waiting for information," he declared.

Reeve Lundy continued: "Mr. Sloss works too hard. I want to publicly suggest that he should Veterans Assoc., Newmarket.

Dear Sirs:

Just a few lines to thank you for the (300) cigarettes received to-day.

They arrived while I was doing twenty-four hour guard, and when you receive anything from home it seems to make the time better. We have been having heavy air raids and it takes a lot of watching. Any of the boys who were over here in the last war will know what it means, just a steady watch. I can say, with all the bombs that are dropped, a very small percentage makes their mark. Let's hope it keeps that way.

I heard the opening hockey game between Toronto and the Rangers, and it just sounded like old times. Of course, it was reproduced, but it sounded great just the same. Hope we can hear more of the games. To really see them would be better still.

There isn't much I can write about just now, only to thank your Association again for the cigarettes.

Sincerely yours,

Cpl. Ted Robinson.

Dear Ang:

I have just received two papers from you and I sure do look forward to receiving them as it is nice to read what is going on in the town of Newmarket. I am getting along fine and in the best of health. I am on the south coast of England and at times it is pretty hot here as Jerry delights coming over this way to get to London. Last week B Company of the Toronto Scottish brought down a German plane with machine gun fire. The latest rumor is that we will soon be in Greece. I hope so, as we want action. You people in Canada are doing your best for us and we want to repay you by bringing back "peace," and I am sure when we do return you will be proud of us.

The Salvation Army and the Y.M.C.A. are doing fine work over here. When we are out on patrol we can always rely on the Y.M.C.A. to bring us tea and cakes; no charge for the tea.

I would like to thank the Veterans and the citizens of Newmarket for the cigarettes I have received, and I wish everybody a Happy Christmas and a Prosperous New Year, and may next year find us all at home again.

A Newmarket Boy.

C. E. Bennisson.

Aldershot, Nov. 26, 1940.

Dear George:

Well, old boy, how are you getting along? I hope everything is fine and you haven't joined the army yet. Not that it isn't a good life, but I think we who are here can see and do enough for the old town. We don't want to run short of men there, either. I suppose that you can see quite a lot of it now, as the old fair grounds has taken on a new life. There make more use of county constables. I think it grew out of Mr. Sloss's anxiety to be as efficient as possible." Reeve Lundy deplored the fact that "it has come to such a pass these days that everyone is looked on with suspicion." "I don't think we need such a standing army to look after policing." The Reeve added that he thought that if Chief Sloss had taken leave to consult more experienced officers, the situation would not have arisen.

"If that had been done in the first place we wouldn't have had this situation."

"Reeve Lundy," inquired Councillor Mungovan, "do you consider it unwise for any officer to get in touch with the Attorney-General's department for advice?"

"Yes, I do," replied the Reeve. "He could see the county Chief or some other such person. We have in this town an assistant Crown Attorney who is always available. Chief Sloss should have consulted with him and he could have put him in touch with the right people." Referring to the police committee, the Reeve added, "I don't think any such committee should undertake to guide the police as to what they should do."

"Neither Sloss or I thought there would be a probe," said Councillor Dixon. "I don't see any harm in a police committee asking for advice of a more experienced man, any more than an other committee asking advice of an engineer."

Councillor Frank Bowser interrupted: "You just took a little too much on your shoulders the same as I did with Widdfield Park, but where I get local publicity you got Dominion-wide publicity."

The motion was again read and approved.

It was decided to ask the Attorney-General to rescind his order.

"A probe, in the eyes of the public, is something that smells," said Deputy-Reeve Vale, and the meeting closed.

must be a lot of change in the old place. I think your dad would like to be over here now, as things are a little quiet; perhaps more so than his last trip over. The travelling is pretty good except for an area around London, but who the heck wants to go where the bombs are falling thick?

How is Herb getting along? When you see him again be sure and tell him I was asking about him, and try to give a word of cheer for me. I wrote to Tommy Scott, but have had no reply as yet, but I hear a lot of our mail went down, so perhaps his answer was one of the unlucky.

Boy, it sure will be good to get home where a fellow can see some lights. At night, here, you just go around hoping that you don't slam into a post or some person, but everybody seems to take it in good part, except an occasional drunk.

Have you had any good mushroom rooms this fall? I should have told you of a good patch I had picked out up the canal, but I guess it is too late now. They grow here, but are funny looking things, and I wouldn't want to take a chance.

It seems to be too bad sometimes to have a rifle and ammunition and can't use it, when we are out training in the fields and a flock of pheasants fly up. It sure is hard to resist, but the penalty isn't worth taking. One shot could start a lot of trouble.

We get the odd shake-up once in a while when Jerry gets near us with a bomb, but he hasn't had much luck so far. And it is so cloudy now I guess he is pretty well set back. He can hardly miss London, but the small towns are not so easy.

Well, George, there really isn't much to talk of, for news is always the same, and a little bit restricted, but I sure want to thank you for the cigarettes. You just can't know how they help to keep in touch with home. The tobacco is different from the stuff we buy here. So I will have to wind this up for now, but hope all the family are well, and, perhaps, to see you again soon.

Best wishes for all, and again thanks a million.

Pte. C. K. Harrison, B.37625, B. Coy., Unit 182, Base Post Office, Canada.

Somewhere in England, Dec. 3, 1940.

Dear Ang:

Received your most welcome parcel and also your very interesting paper yesterday. I want to sincerely thank the Ladies' Institute and the Vets Club, and also yourself for such a lovely gift. I trust that these few lines will find everyone at home in the very best of health and, of course, not working too hard.

Well, Ang, we have moved our camp and are now out in the country on a very large and beautiful estate. We have all the modern conveniences of the average home, so you see we are in the modern army. Several bombs have dropped around the house and two of them were only about 15 yards from our main entrance, but the only damage done was a few broken windows. On Saturday last there were quite a few dog-fights near our place and as always, the R.A.F. came out on top, downing three "Jerrys" and only had one of their ships disabled.

The transport of our regiment has been pretty busy the past four weeks as we are building winter quarters. We leave every morning around eight o'clock and return at dusk. I was to Kingston on the Thames last Sunday and had a very nice day, as it was one of the most modern towns in the whole of England. I am going out to a dance to-night and we really do have a good time over here in spite of the black-outs.

Well, Ang, I guess I will have to close for now, and once again thank you all for the lovely parcel.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all.

Thanking you,

Don Lyall, B39589 Spr. W. D. Lyall, 2nd Can. Pioneer Bn., R.C.E., C.A.S.F., Base Post Office, Canada.

CANADA'S AIRCRAFT

"Der Courier," German-language weekly, Regina. Commenting on development in Canada's aircraft industry:

It will be seen from the foregoing how our young aircraft industry has expanded and what promise it gives of accomplishment. Only one thing is needed if the desired objective is to be reached: a firm will to carry the programme through and to provide for trained workers as they are needed. An aircraft industry created from military needs in wartime will, in peace time, be a worth-while asset for Canada.

The Star of Bethlehem

By Golden Glow.

We have been greatly blessed this Christmas season with clear, star-light nights, and what we believe to be "The Star of Bethlehem" has shone bright and clear above us many evenings. The stars have been so bright and so especially brilliant that they seemed much nearer than ever before, and particularly that one lovely, brightly-shining star that scientists, or astrologers rather, claim to be the same conjunction of stars that formed that most famous, most loved star of all times—The Star of Bethlehem! What if it should be so—what if it is Christ's Star appearing for us once again—this time to announce His coming, not as the Christ-Child, but as King? Before 1941 becomes 1942, we may have seen what peoples for thousands of years have awaited!

These mild, starry nights can play queer pranks with our imaginations. I was walking down town the other evening—just at the moment nobody was near me and I found myself stationary, gazing, gazing at the millions of stars up above and that particularly one especially, and I imagined myself walking down the streets of Bethlehem that long-ago night when, by the order of Caesar Augustus, everyone went to his own city to be registered. Did the stars shine then like they shone here this Christmas season? Did the Shepherds and the Magi really see what we have been seeing, and did it mean so much more to them than to us that they were led to the stable and manger-bed of Bethlehem? Or was it a miracle? The stars can always quiet us when our thoughts grow confused, for they are the same, night after night, and have been for many long years. But how they intrigue us!

The Magi, the wise men of the East, who were led by the star, and the Shepherds, are favorite subjects for Christmas greeting cards, and the church celebrates the Star by the Epiphany season next week. The Star has become so a part of our Christmas that we see it in countless ways through the happy celebration. The silver star that adorns the top-most branches of a Christmas tree especially—we would not think our Christmas tree properly dressed without the Star shining amid the green branches. We choose greeting cards with the Shepherds, or the Wise Men, and above them, the Star. But it is the starry heavens that thrill us—we can imagine we hear the song the angels sang that night as the Star stood over Bethlehem! Of course, here in our well-lighted town we cannot see the stars as folks out in the country, but if you stand in the shadows you can do pretty well. When I want to see the stars, or look for the Northern Lights, I go out in the garden at the north side of the house where the electric lights can't shine on me, and I watch the Pleiades, the seven sisters, tumble in and out—look for the Big Dipper and the Little Dipper. Look for the Morning Star—look for Mars—oh! If I begin to name all the stars I'll never get this article done—we all know our pet stars and go out on starry nights to see them and greet them as they look down and greet us when they twinkle!

For the past few years, instead of a lighted Christmas tree, I have a Star—a frame made in the shape of a star, covered with evergreen and lighted with all blue lights. My friends and neighbors call it my Star of Bethlehem, and I think they all love it as much as I do! I have a small tree indoors, but my Star hangs on the verandah, with a ruby light above it in the ceiling of the verandah.

I never saw so many lovely lighted Christmas trees before as we have in our town this year. The churches are always the first to light up their Christmas trees, except the young chaps who are selling trees and have lighted tree displayed for advertisement.

The churches get their beautiful trees in place, and one after another they blossom out in private homes, in store windows, and especially all the lovely ones, the real, living evergreen trees in people's gardens that are adorned with colored lights for Christmas. I do so love to be driven round all over the town to see them; it is one of the joys of Christmas, and I never can see them too often. There is even a perfect little gem in the rotunda of the Strand Theatre—a perfect little beauty, all shiny with icicles and glittering with tinsel and artificial snow, and gay with Christmas ornaments. Who says "Corporations" have no soul? If the management of a theatre takes thought for lighted Christmas trees and takes the trouble to make it as beautiful as the one I saw in the vestibule of the Strand Theatre, then surely that old saying won't hold good.

Christmas gets us all, young and old. Even in this year, the second Christmas of war, we pause to celebrate Christmas, of which "The Star of Bethlehem" and our lighted Christmas trees are outward and visible signs.

BRITISH-ISRAEL

There was not the usual full house, only about three-quarters full, on the Sunday evening before Christmas, when Rev. Harvey Linnen of Toronto, gave a British-Israel address in the Strand Theatre, entitled, "The New World Order." It was a particularly inspiring address, leaving plenty of material in his hearer's minds to think over later.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Newmarket Branch of the Women's Institute held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Rachar on Thursday afternoon.

The meeting opened with singing Christmas Carols, followed with prayer. The president, Mrs. Tom Watson, contributed several readings which were greatly enjoyed.

Reports from the Standing Committees were called. On motion the date of the Afternoon Tea was changed to January. Mrs. D. McDonald then directed an interesting contest. Miss C. Dennis and Mrs. E. Brammar were the winners.

Following the singing of the National Anthem, the presents from the beautifully decorated Christmas tree were distributed by Santa.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

GENEROUS GIFT

SISMAN'S RECEIVE ORDER FOR FAST RUNNING SHOES

The following letter has been received by The T. Sisman Shoe Company Ltd., of Aurora. It looks as if Mussolini sure needs scampers:

The T. Sisman Shoe Co. Ltd., Aurora:

PROPERTY IS SOLD ON HOLLAND RIVER

Purchasers Combine to Install Pumping and Irrigation System

Sale of ten parcels of market garden land along the banks of the Holland River has been completed by C. R. Purcell Company, farm realtors.

All the properties adjoin and the ten purchasers have combined to install a pumping and irrigation system over the area, which comprises 118 acres. The land is within the West Gwillimbury and King Township drainage scheme, completed in 1927 at a cost of $500,000 and to be paid for by taxation over a period of 30 years. Previous to the drainage scheme water covered the black muck lands adjoining Yonge St. at Bradford for many months of the year. In the summer, when water receded, nearby residents harvested thousands of tons of marsh hay, which was in demand for mattress filling, bringing about $40 per ton. Hay that is now cut on the marsh lands not under cultivation is used mainly for packing purposes.

The drainage canal runs around the marsh in the shape of a horseshoe with a dam at the heel and, when water is high in the spring or in wet weather, electric pumps discharge it from the canal into the river. Dyked banks of the river keep the water from flowing back over the market garden farms.

All of the 118 acres of rich muck soil will have to be reclaimed and the stumps and logs picked out by hand. On most of this portion of land the black soil is over six feet deep and the breaking will be done by a massive new type plow, drawn by a caterpillar tread tractor and will turn the land over about a foot deep.

The Holland Marsh Syndicate were the vendors in the recent transfer and the purchasers, some now operating on the marsh and others from Toronto were as follows: Messrs. John Sandrin, Lou Caral, Joe Pedron, Harry Subchuk, William Subchuk, San Cisecki, Nelles Hrechka, Steve Wegan, Tona Zeimba and Joe Chemery.

Previously, a sale of 30 acres was made through the Purcell offices to the family of Joe Seibert, one of the original settlers.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD BOBBIE STICKLAND SAVES COUSIN FROM DROWNING

The quick thinking of eight-year-old Bobbie Stickland saved the life of his little cousin, Joan Wesley, seven years old, on Christmas Day. While the children were playing on the canal, the ice broke and they fell in about six feet of water. Bobbie got out and lay on the ice, grabbed Joan by the coat pulling her close to him, and finally pulling her out. After a hot drink, mustard bath, and put to bed, the children are none the worse for their experience.

A. H. LOVERIDGE BUYS NESS FARM AT KING

Well known as an exhibitor and dog fancier, A. H. Loveridge of Toronto has purchased the old Ness farm in King Township, near the village of King City, through J. A. Willoughby, realtor.

This farm consists of 60 acres of which there are about 57 acres of workable clay loam soil and about three acres of cedar bush. On the property is a frame cottage type house of seven rooms, a new bank barn 40 feet by 26 feet, with cement floors, and a good hen-house, 100 feet by 20 feet, and a garage.

From 1883 to 1910 this farm belonged to James and Jean Ness, who sold it to Thomas Ferguson. It remained in the Ferguson name till 1923 when it was sold to Arthur Grant. Later, during the same year, it was sold to the present vendor of the farm.

In addition to being a prominent dog fancier, Mr. Loveridge owns several race horses, and he intends to further develop the farm to accommodate these horses and to enable him to house Afghan hounds and setters. The property lies just north of the Eaton Hall farm.

NO RACIAL PREJUDICES

"Novy Shliakh" (New Pathway), Ukrainian semi-weekly, Saskatoon: A dispatch came just yesterday that the German government has extended to Poles the so-called Nuremberg racial law which until now applied only to Jews. This law forbids blood relationship between Germans and Poles, bans mixed German-Polish marriages. In other words the German race must not be polluted by mixing with the low and impure Polish race. "Thank God," some people would say, "such things are not possible in Canada. It is true that such fanaticism cannot exist in Canada on a large scale because the Canadian population, from which some time a distinctly Canadian race will emerge, consists today probably of representatives of all greater races that exist in the world. However, manifestations of racial prejudices, as sporadic cases, may be observed here too. It would be needless to prove that such things do not favor the creation of social unity and do not consolidate community forces. Such chauvinistic pranks are particularly harmful in time of war when the interests of the nation require a most solid unification of the whole people."

As previously announced, the Newmarket Ministerial Association is publishing the churches and speakers for the nights of Monday through Friday, Jan. 6 to 10, for the week of united prayer in the churches of Newmarket. The program this year is arranged to be of special interest to all groups in the community and all who know the worth of prayer are urged to make the most of this timely occasion, especially since our beloved Sovereign, King George VI, by the response to his proclamations for united prayer, has demonstrated its worth as a weapon in the defence of the Empire.

FRAUD CHARGE IS WITHDRAWN

A warrant is being issued for his arrest. W. E. Yake of Aurora, appeared on a charge of fraud laid by Ira Seales of Richmond Hill.

Crown Attorney Mathews explained to the court that accused sold the complainant a car subject to a lien and agreed to have the lien fixed. "Apparently Yake did not arrange to have this settled and the car was taken back by the Finance Company," he stated. "It is now a question of whether accused is actually guilty of the offence. If he is prepared to make restitution, I would be satisfied to have the charge withdrawn."

Mr. Yake agreed to make settlement and pay the court costs. Magistrate Woodliffe withdrew the charge.

Carl Zauner of King Township, charged by Constable Prosser with failing to produce a hunting license and obstructing a police officer, was remanded until next week. Bail was set at $200.

Mrs. John Lockie was charged by Constable Ferguson with having no flares.

"On December 11th, about 9.10 p.m., in the Township of Whitchurch, I stopped a truck driven by Bruce Lockie and owned by Mrs. Lockie of Zephyr," testified the officer. "The clearance light was not working and the flares were dry of oil."

"I just started driving the truck and the other man had used the flares and I didn't know they were dry," said accused. "They had been dry for some time," added Constable Ferguson. "The wick was even dry."

"Flares are no good if they have no oil," ruled His Worship. "$5 and costs."

Mrs. Agnes Dixon of King Township, charged by Constable F. Hayward with having no dog license, was fined $2 and costs or 5 days.

MEN IN 22-YEAR GROUP GET CALL FOR ARMY DUTY

While 300 members of the permanent instructional staffs of Long Branch and Newmarket training centres are on six-day leave, preparations are under way at the Toronto registry office to call up the third class of recruits.

These young men, who will train for 30 days, unless a last-minute change is ordered, will be slightly older than the average of the first two classes, Registrar R. A. Irwin explained Friday.

Most of the men ordered to report at the two camps on Jan. 10 will be 22-year-olds, or older. In other centres of Eastern and Western Canada, not so populous as Toronto, many 23 and 24-year-olds already have been trained, partly as a result of seasonal employment.

Notices were sent to prospective recruits, beginning Saturday or Monday at the latest, it was explained. Earlier notices regarding the necessity of medical examinations were forwarded ten days ago. Men who have married since July 15 last are considered as single and subject to call.

Recruits are asked by camp officials to bring along whatever athletic equipment they may possess, especially for indoor games, such as basketball, badminton and ping pong.

ward with having no dog license, pleaded not guilty.

The officer testified that accused had purchased a license for 1940 in the City of Toronto. He had been living part of the time in King Township and the council instructed him to collect the amount for a license in the Township of King.

Accused stated that he had spent five months in King, but his home was really in Toronto. He didn't think it necessary to have two licenses.

"This man shouldn't have to pay $10 to keep a dog," commented His Worship, remanding the charge. "Buy your license for 1941 in the Township of King."

"I have already agreed to do that," replied accused.

Kenneth L. Cameron, charged by Constable Ferguson with travelling seventy-five miles an hour, was fined $20 and costs.

Raymond St. George of Picton, charged by Constable Ferguson with speeding, was fined $5 and costs.

POLAND STILL LIVES

"Zwiastodiec" (Alliance), Polish-language weekly, Toronto: Although crushed under partitions as tragic as the partitions of the past, we can be proud that it was nothing but the heroism of the Polish soldier, the heroism of the children, women and workers of Warsaw, of the sailors of Westerplatte, of the defenders of Lwow, Modlin or Gdynia which opened the eyes of the world to the heroic essence of the long martyrdom, to the real face of the enemy by revealing his actual plans and designs. Although cast down, we are not dead, not even broken, and we can be proud that the cause of dishonored Poland has become the cause of the whole civilized world, that once more we have strongly tied Poland's future to the future of that new life, that new universal justice, for which today, along with Polish soldiers, the heroic warriors of Britain are fighting.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. McNicol whose father passed away during the Christmas season.

"Things."

"The End and The Beginning."

Christmas Day has passed once more into memory's lovely store; Everywhere, as we look round, gifts from loving friends are found; Still the trees rise, tall and green, topped by stars of glittering sheen, and the Carols, echoing in our hearts, still seem to ring. But the day of magic's gone—once more we must look upon just the world of everyday—world of work and world of play; once more war's black pall must lie over land and sea and sky. But I think, from Christmas Day, we have gained fresh strength to say Christ came once when days were cruel and men felt the tyrants' rule; He will surely come with might, giving victory to the right, giving for the coming year strength to rise above all fear; strength to tread the daily road with our feet upon the ground, knowing in our own small way we have each a part to play. New Year's resolutions now, can be sort of like a vow—that we'll strive this coming year, to give out both hope and cheer—not to sink to depths of gloom, nor a woe face assume. We have so much in this land, that is free and great and grand, that it seems on New Year's Day, we should look forward and say, "We'll keep courage burning high, though dark clouds obscure the sky; working toward a brighter year, when the sky will shine more clear." So I say, without a fear, to my readers — "Glad New Year!"

Over 9,000 infants and children were treated in The Hospital for Sick Children during the past year. They came from all parts of the Province. All were under 16 years of age—most of them came from the homes of the needy—over 95% occupied Public Ward beds.

Careful management kept hospitalization costs down among the lowest for children's hospitals in the whole of North America. In spite of this, the cost of caring for 9,000 little bed patients and of supplying the medical attendance required by 79,410 children's visits to our heavily burdened Out-Patient Department, was much more than the revenue received from all sources.

A similar deficit occurs every year because the Public Ward rates are less than the bare cost of hospital service. In some cases the parents pay, and in others their municipalities shoulder the burden. In either event, our revenue is at the same fixed rate—about $1.00 per patient day less than our costs.

This Hospital does NOT share in the funds collected by the Federation for Community Service because patients are admitted from all over Ontario.

Only the gifts of generous citizens make it possible for us to continue carrying on without stint our work of mercy among Ontario children.

Every donation is important. Please give as much as your circumstances warrant. This is a worthy charity which deserves your special consideration.

We employ no canvassers, so please mail your gift to the Appeal Secretary.

H. B. MARSHALL
HEART ATTACK

Continued from page 1 col. 1. Three greatest institutions of any time—the church, the home, and his country.

Harry Marshall was liked by all. He was a kindly man, ever looking for the best in everyone. He enjoyed the simple pleasures and everything that was wholesome. His passing was keenly felt by the throng who attended the last rites.

Messrs. Wesley Brooks, Herbert Whyte, Thos. Doyle, Stanley Jones, Fred Chantler and C. F. Willis, close personal friends, acted as pallbearers. Interment was made in Newmarket Cemetery.

Surviving besides his widow are two sons, Douglas of Peron, Quebec, and Aubrey of town; four brothers, George of Bracebridge, Nelson, Jack and Tine of Washago, and one sister, Mrs. McLean of Wallaceburg.

Some fifteen minutes after the death of Mr. Marshall, a niece passed away in Wallaceburg. The young lady had come home for Christmas when stricken.

QUEENSVILLE

A death and numerous cases of illness lessened the Christmas festivities in this community. However, it is the wish of your correspondent that everyone will have a Bright and Happy New Year.

Mrs. Linstead and son, Gerald, have both recovered from the effects of the gas fumes. The community extends its deepest sympathy to Mrs. Linstead and Gerald, and other relatives. The funeral was held on Saturday, and was largely attended.

Choir Presents Cantata. Queensville United Church choir presented the Christmas Cantata, "His Birthday," at the Christmas service, Sunday morning, and it was enjoyed by all. Something Lacking.

An officious and unpopular A.R.P. official was putting the stretcher-bearer party through its paces. He lay on the ground and said: "Now, remember, I'm completely smashed up. Every bone in my body is broken. Now, let's see how you pick me up."

The stretcher-bearers picked him up efficiently, laid him on the stretcher, and asked: "Well, was that satisfactory?"

"Yes, it was all right," snapped the officious one, "only you didn't have that look of regret in your eyes that I expected!"
